BISBEE, ARIZ., JULY 5, 1900.

THERE was no kerosene nor gas in 1800. Both were unheard of The tallow dip was the standard light, and on the frontiers even tallow was scarce. There the torch of the forest was used. Lamps then were in the homes of the very rich, fed with whale or vegetable oils, but they were few, and the flame hardly brighter than the candles. For fifty years into the century these lights were used, for it was not until 1858 that petroleum was discovered, and even in 1861 kerosene was very expensive, costing sixty cents a gallon.

IT is said that many a man enjoys a good reputation on account of his meanness not being found out. This is true and there are people who have the character of being really good fellows, honest, well-meaning men, and men who look at their fellow citizens from a

The rapid progress made by these two cities, notably of course in the case of the border town, has been remarkable. In Naco there is every evidence of substanttal progress. The propinguity of the Mexican quarter across the border does not now affect the good order of the town, and that part of Naco is inhabited by progressive citizens, who, as owners of property and conducting respectable trades, | cool drink of beer. feel themselves responsible for the well being of the community on their side of the line, and take a deep interest in the welfare of Naco.

ARIZONA sheep growers who recently shipped their wethers have been held np by the United States inspectors and were unable to market their sheep on account of being scabbed. This means a big loss to the shippers and our New Mexico sheepmen should take fair warning and not get in the same predicament, but should be careful to have their sheep thoroughly dipped and cured of the scab. Men have been selected by the department to go from Arizona to the state of Washington and examine all the forest reserves for the purpose of ascertaining whether pasturing sheep upon them is injurious to the growth of the young timber or not. Several years ago an order was issued prohibiting running sheep within such reservations. Ever since there has been loud complaint on the part of the sheep men, who contend that while the sheep men, who contend that while publication hereof you fail or refuse to conpublication hereof you fail or refuse to conpublication of said expendithey are deprived of the advantages of the ranges, the sacrifice to which they are subjected does not result in sufficient public good to compensate for tribute your proportion of said expenditures as co-owner, your interest in the said mining claims will become the property of the subscriber. in a day or two. This is a part of the navy department's plan to put iron furniture in all the ships. During the Spanish war all movable furniture was eft on the shore or thrown overboard to lessen the danger from fire. There was, however, enough inflammable material left on the ships to make a dangerous blaze in case our vessels had been raked with the enemy's fire.

Next comes the Slack property at Groom Creek, now down 100 feet, and they have ore from the top to the bottom of the shaft. This is property they relocated the first day of last January and it has paid all expenses and had a nice little nest egg left over. This shows the difference in the man who knows his business and the prospector who does the gophering. The gold basis is the extension of their property. The little five-stamp mill has been pounding away steadily since the 1st of January and I understand that through Mr. Scammel this propty will change hands in a few days.
